The listing provides information on each landmark's location, natural values, designation date, ownership, and owner agreement status. In the future only additions to the list will be published so this list should be retained for reference. Federal agencies should consider the existence and location of natural landmarks when assessing the impact of their actions on the environment under Section 102(2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (83 Stat. 852; 42 U.S.C. 4321).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Frank Ugolini, Chief, Natural Landmarks Branch, Interagency Resource Management Division, National Park Service, Washington, D.C. 20240, (202) 523-4456.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Secretary of the Interior established the National Natural Landmarks Program in 1962 to identify and encourage the preservation of the full range of ecological and geological features that are nationally significant examples of the Nation's natural heritage. Potential natural landmarks are identified through studies conducted by the National Park Service (NPS) and other sources, evaluated by expert natural scientists, and, if judged nationally significant, designated as landmarks by the Secretary of the Interior. Once a landmark is designated, it is included on the National Registry of Natural Landmarks, which currently lists 543 natural landmarks.

The Natural Landmarks program has been administered by NPS since May 18, 1962 with the exception of the period from January 25, 1976 to May 31, 1981 when it was administered by the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service (HCRS). HCRS was abolished May 31, 1981.

The act of designating an area as a natural landmark is not a land withdrawal and in no way affects the ownership of the site. It does not dictate the type or intensity of activity that may be undertaken in a landmark. Landmark preservation is often made possible only through the long-term commitment of public and private owners to protect an area's outstanding natural values. The Department encourages owners and managers to protect the nationally significant values of their landmarks, but this cooperation is voluntary and does not restrict the uses to which the land may be put. An owner who enters into a voluntary agreement with NPS to protect the landmark is eligible to receive a certificate which recognizes the special status of the area. A bronze plaque may also be presented for appropriate display on the site.

Federal agencies should consider the existence and location of natural landmarks when they assess the effects of their actions on the environment under Section 102(2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (83 Stat. 852; 42 U.S.C. 4321).

NPS prepares an annual report for the Secretary of the Interior to transmit to the Congress which identifies all natural landmarks with known or anticipated damage or threats to the integrity of their resources (90 Stat. 1940; 16 U.S.C. 1a-5).

National Registry of Natural Landmarks

The National Registry of Natural Landmarks includes nationally significant ecological and geological features in 48 States, American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Of the 543 landmarks listed on the National Registry of Natural Landmarks, one-half are administered solely by public agencies, e.g., Federal, State, county, or municipal governments. Almost one-third are owned entirely by private parties. The remaining natural landmarks are owned or administered by a mixture of public and private owners.

The following list contains all natural landmarks included on the National Registry of Natural Landmarks as of January 1, 1983. The landmarks are arranged alphabetically by State and county. The number of landmarks in each State is enclosed in parentheses following each State's name. A description of each landmark's location, natural values, designation date, ownership, and owner agreement status is provided. Each landmark's designation date is enclosed in parentheses (), and more than one date indicates that the area's boundary was changed after its original designation. Ownership data are arranged in the following arbitrary order and do not reflect the relative amount of land owned by any party: Federal, State, County, Municipal, Private. An asterisk (*) indicates that the owner(s) of a landmark have entered into a voluntary agreement to protect the area's natural values.

Because many natural landmarks are privately owned and/or not managed for public access, landowner permission must be obtained before a visit is made to these natural landmarks. The specific location for some landmarks is not provided because of an owner's request for minimum publicity and/or the fragility of the landmark's natural features.

Dated: January 6, 1983.

 Director, National Park Service.
