MISSION STATEMENT

American Bucking Bull, Inc. (“ABBI”) is dedicated to unifying, developing and promoting the bucking bull industry through pedigree preservation; enhancement and promotion of bucking bull ownership, breeding, care and welfare; and development of programs and events showcasing the world’s finest American Bucking Bull animals. We are a registry set up to record and preserve the pedigrees of the world’s premier American Bucking Bull breed. ABBI is structured to promote participation by those with the biggest stake in the bucking bull industry – the owners, breeders and trainers of the world’s greatest bucking bulls. We provide an environment where bucking bull breeders can introduce and foster the growth of young bucking bulls ensuring the finest animal athletes are available to compete at selected PBR Elite Tour and PBR Touring Pro events.

HISTORY

ABBI started in 2004 and then began a rapid expansion of its business beginning in 2008 through the registration, verification and maintenance of pedigrees for the American Bucking Bull breed; the organization, management and promotion of “world class” programs and events benefiting stock owners; and providing incentives, benefits and opportunities for ABBI’s owners and members which enhance the value and integrity of the American Bucking Bull breed. The ABBI affords bucking bull breeders the opportunity to bring their animal athletes to PBR sanctioned events to compete against one another for a world championship held at the end of the season.

DNA REGISTRY INFORMATION

ABBI currently has 201,000 animals registered in its DNA database. Breeders are from across the United States and Canada and ABBI has now expanded into Australia and Brazil. ABBI will continue to develop and operate a comprehensive pedigree registration and record information retention program focused exclusively on the world’s finest American Bucking Bull stock. The registry is accessible exclusively to breeders of ABBI and authorized members of the press. Contact marlissa@pbr.com for more information.

WHAT IS ABBI?

WELCOME

This is the world of the American Bucking Bull. One of the most important parts to the sport of bull riding and its four-legged athletes is the media and the support we receive from all of you. With your help we are able to reach new fans and bovine enthusiasts. ABBI would like to make your experience while covering the sport of bull riding and its bovine athletes enjoyable, informative and surprising. Through ABBI, you will get a unique and fascinating aspect to “the other side of the ride”. With this Media Guide, we hope to provide you with new knowledge and information about these amazing bovine athletes, those responsible for their existence and the individuals behind them.

WHAT DOES THE ABBI DO SPECIFICALLY?

ABBI has developed a series of bucking bull events, consisting of Yearling (1-year-old), Futurities (2-year-olds, including Junior and Cowgirl Futurities), Derby (3-year-old) and Classic (3 and 4-year-old) competitions. This includes the year-end Futurity Wild Card event in Duncan, OK and Classic Wild Card event in Las Vegas. The Top 5 Wild Card bulls join the top 35 year-end ranked bulls for the annual ABBI Classic World Finals held in conjunction with the PBR World Finals. ABBI’s core mission is to record and preserve the pedigrees of the world’s premier bucking bull lineage while maintaining and enhancing the integrity and value of The American Bucking Bull breed. ABBI also provides beneficial services for ABBI members which improve and enable “best practices” in bucking bull ownership, breeding, care, training and welfare. Additionally, ABBI is vested in generating interest and growth in ABBI through ownership, membership, education, sponsorship and involvement through marketing, promotion, advertising and publicity of The American Bucking Bull breed, ABBI membership benefits, services, competition and events. ABBI works diligently to develop diverse and comprehensive programs and events that educate and familiarize owners, members, the general public and the media in the unique heritage, history and qualities of The American Bucking Bull.

YEARLING, FUTURITY, DERBY, CLASSIC, MATURITY

Presented by
Total Feeds

WHAT IS THE ABBI YEARLING, FUTURITY AND DERBY COMPETITION?

An American Bucking Bull is a registered cattle breed. These animals are created through the careful breeding of parents with documented genetics. When a bull calf is born, breeders and owners plan for the first step on the competition ladder – the ABBI Yearling, Futurity and Derby events. All ABBI Yearling, Futurity and Derby bucking bulls that compete are age-verified by ABBI certified veterinarians and given an EID (Electronic Identification) ear tag which they wear their entire ABBI career. Once they are cleared for Yearling, Futurity or Derby competition at the age of one, two or three, respectively, their career as a bucking bull begins. During a bull's 1-year-old Yearling season, 2-year-old Futurity and 3-year-old Derby season, he can compete at a multitude of ABBI-sanctioned events held across the U.S.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE ABOUT YEARLING AND FUTURITY BULLS?

Besides age, a Futurity bull differs from a Classic of PBR bull because they compete under a dummy rather than a rider. The remote-controlled dummy weighs 15 pounds and is lined with thick, soft neoprene for a comfortable fit on the bull's back when attached by a cinch. Safety is the first priority. The goal is to encourage a bucking bred bull's natural desire to buck. In order to promote the best athletic performance, proper pressure while cinching and comfort is paramount. A proper fit facilitates maximum athletic performance.

HOW DOES THE DUMMY COME OFF THE BULL?

The dummy has a cord with a pin at the end which is put in the flank strap. An official on the back of the chute has a remote that trips and releases the dummy after 4 seconds. When the dummy is remotely released, its weight pulls the attached cord and pin out of the flank removing it also.

WHAT IS THE OBJECTIVE OF BUCKING A BULL UNDER A DUMMY?

Bucking younger bulls under a dummy serves as a training method and teaches young bovine athletes skills they will later need when they face a rider. The release of the dummy rewards a bull for bucking, which encourages bucking behavior.

DOES THE DUMMY SHOCK THE BULL?

No. In fact, there is no shocking ability on the dummy whatsoever. This misinformed belief would defeat the entire concept of dummy training which is entirely reward based. The remote release of the dummy teaches bulls that bucking removes the dummy, thus perpetuating the animal's natural instinct of avoid-escape behavior.

ABBI CLASSIC COMPETITION

A Classic competition is the next step in a young buckler's competitive career and begins when the bull is either three or four years of age. These bulls start and finish their Classic career under PBR riders at ABBI competitions held in conjunction with PBR events. Nearly $800,000 in prize money was paid out during the 2017 regular Classic season. Following the regular season, the Top 35 bulls, based on earnings, qualify for the ABBI Classic World Finals in Las Vegas. Those Top 35 bulls will go head-to-head in two rounds of competition under the Top 35 PBR riders in the world for a chance to win the ABBI Classic Champion title and $100,000. This bull will be decided from his Top 6 scores headed into the finals, in addition to his two performances at the PBR World Finals. The ABBI World Finals Classic Event Champion will earn the title and $100,000 from his two performances at the PBR World Finals.

ABBI WILD CARD COMPETITION

An ABBI Wild Card bull is any 3- or 4-year-old bull not among the Top 35 Classic bulls when the season closes. These bulls are given one last chance to qualify for the ABBI World Finals in Las Vegas by competing in the Wild Card event.

ABBI MATURITY EVENTS

This competition was created for bulls that have "aged-out" of ABBI's competitive formats. After a bull's 4-year-old season, the only thing left is for him to buck at are PBR events where there is no chance at earnings any longer, aside from money he is paid to be at the event and potential bonuses for being the high-marked bull. In addition to bulls that are 5 years of age or older, other bulls that are ineligible to compete in other ABBI contests for various reasons may also compete in this format.

JUNIOR PROGRAM

The ABBI's Junior Members program is looking for more kids who work hard, love bucking bulls and are interested in getting involved in the industry and finding out what being a Stock Contractor is all about. The ABBI's Youth Division presented more than $50,000 to its youth members in 2018 along with so many prizes and awards. The bucking bull industry is about more than high scores and winning big. We believe the connections you make and the lessons you learn are the most important things. If you are between the ages of 9-18 and love the American Bucking Bull, then the Junior Members Program is where you need to be. The sky is the limit when you become a Junior Member. You can choose to raise and buck bulls, buy and buck bulls, be sponsored by a mentor with a bull you can buck, or root for your peers from the sidelines, which is only a small portion of the opportunities available to you as a Junior Member. If you're a 4-H member consider using the American Bucking Bull as an approved project. If you're an FFA member, it's already possible to use the American Bucking Bull as your latest approved SASE project. If you're lined out for entering your own bull in competition, we've got you covered. Come and see what ABBI's Jr. Members Program is all about.

PBR (Professional Bull Riders), the world's leading bull riding league, is a sister company to ABBI and owns half of the organization. The other half of ABBI is owned by stock contractors. The ABBI board is made up of advisors from PBR and ABBI members.

PBR and ABBI regularly hold events in conjunction with each other. ABBI bulls commonly compete at PBR's top two series, PBR Unleash The Beast and the Velocity Tour. The top Classic bulls even face off against the world's best cowboys each fall during two rounds of the PBR World Finals in Las Vegas. Although bulls may soar to fame in front of TV cameras and hundreds of thousands of fans once as regulars on the PBR's elite series, a talented animal will make the majority of his money between ages of 2-4 at ABBI events. Bucking bulls can earn as much as half a million dollars at ABBI events before age 5.

PBR (PROFESSIONAL BULL RIDERS):

PBR brings the "Toughest Sport on Dirt" to major arenas across the United States with the nationally-televised PBR Unleash The Beast, featuring the Top 35 bull riders in the world; the PBR Velocity Tour, the PBR's top expansion tour; and the PBR Touring Pro Division, the sport's development tour. Each event pits the best bull riders against the top bovine athletes in the world during two hours of heart-pounding, bone-crushing, edge-of-your-seat excitement combining the thrills and spills of America's original extreme sport with rock 'n' roll music, pyrotechnics, and an official entertainer. PBR brings fans world-class entertainment and incredible human and bovine athleticism rolled into one event that has now gained 82.5 million fans in the US (ESPN Sports Poll).

PBR UNLEASH THE BEAST:

PBR Unleash The Beast is the nationally-televised, elite tour of the PBR featuring the world's Top 35 bull riders going head-to-head against the fiercest bucking bulls on the planet. The 2019 season begins at Madison Square Garden in New York and concludes in Las Vegas at T-Mobile Arena with the PBR World Finals, the richest bull-riding event in the world, including the $1 million bonus to the PBR World Champion, who also receives the coveted gold world championship belt buckle valued at more than $10,000. During a regular-season elite series two-day event, each of the 35 riders will ride in one round each day - Round 1 and Round 2. Following Round 2, the riders with the 15 highest two-round total scores will advance to the championship round where they will each ride one more bull. The overall event winner is based on world points earned in each round and the aggregate score. For a standard three-day event, each of the 35 riders will ride in one round each day - Round 1, Round 2 and Round 3. Following Round 3, the riders with the 15 highest three-round total scores will advance to the Championship Round where they will each ride one more bull. The overall event winner will be based on world points earned in each round and the aggregate score.

PBR MAJORS:

Four events on the elite series are considered PBR Majors – Madison Square Garden in New York City; Staples Center in Los Angeles; Cheyenne, Wyoming; and Bridgestone Arena in Nashville, Tennessee. These events offer unique formats, bonus bulls and increased prize money and are broadcast on CBS Television Network.

15/15 BUCKING BATTLE:

In several markets throughout the season, a special round of competition is added to PBR Unleash The Beast events, called the 15/15 Bucking Battle. This round features the Top 15 bull riders in the PBR randomly matched against the Top 15 bulls at the event. An additional purse and one and a half times the round points are up for grabs. Although the points do not factor into the specific event's overall outcome, they do count toward the PBR World Standings.

EQUIPMENT BASICS

1 HEADGEAR, COWBOY HAT OR HELMET: Wearing a cowboy hat is primarily traditional, however helmets with protective facemasks are being worn by more and more bull riders. Helmets shield the head from threatening blows. Facemasks protect both the face and jaw. Some riders feel that the helmet and facemask restrict their vision. Others think the added weight upsets their balance and timing. Those that wear them are grateful for the added protection they provide. Often riders will wear a helmet or facemask after a serious head, face or jaw injury. Choosing a hat or helmet used to be a matter of preference. However, beginning with the 2013 season, any contestant born on or after October 15, 1994 is required to wear a protective helmet deemed by the contestant, in the contestant's professional opinion as a professional bull rider, to be suitable and appropriate for use in the sport of professional bull riding. It must be worn at all times while in the bucking chutes and/or while present in the immediate competition area (e.g. on the dirt) of any PBR sanctioned event. The contestant shall be prohibited from competing in any PBR sanctioned event without wearing such helmet.

2 PROTECTIVE VEST: Every bull rider must wear the protective vest, which has dramatically reduced the number of internal injuries. Developed by PBR Livestock Director and co-founder Cody Lambert, the vest absorbs shock and dissipates blows while protecting the torso from direct contact with the bull's hooves and horns.

3 GLOVE: A bull rider wears a glove on his riding hand. The leather glove, which protects both the hand and fingers, is secured around the wrist with tape to keep it from being torn from the rider's hand by the tremendous force of the bull.

4 ROSIN: Each bull rider carries a container of rosin, a sticky substance that provides a little extra grip. Every rider has his own preference and recipe for rosin, typically adding saddle soap or Neutrogena soap.

5 CHAPS (pronounced shaps:) Each pair of chaps is custom-made. They reflect a rider's personality while also displaying sponsor logos. Chaps can also provide some protection, particularly in the chute.

6 BULL ROPE: Braided from nylon or grass, the bull rope is placed around the bull's chest behind his front legs. The flat rope has a handle braided into it, constructed partially of leather, which is the bull rider's only anchor for the duration of his ride. The rider runs the rope through his fingers and grips it to keep it tight around the bull. There are two varieties of bull ropes, American and Brazilian. The Brazilian version is slightly stiffer and is pulled from the opposite side, meaning a rider using his right hand would have his rope pulled from the left side. The same rider using an American rope would have it pulled from the right side. Bull ropes typically last one season, although some riders do replace them on a more frequent basis. At the bottom of the rope hangs a metal bell designed to give the rope some weight so that it will fall off the bull as soon as the rider is bucked off or dismounts the animal. The bell has smooth, round edges and does not harm the bull in any way.

7 FLANK STRAP: A soft cloth strap, often lined with sheep's wool, wrapped around the flank of a bull, similar to a person's belt. Its purpose is to enhance the bull's natural bucking motion, encouraging the animal to extend his hind legs while trying to get the rider onto the ground. The flank strap is never placed around the bull's genitals. There are never sharp or foreign objects placed between the strap and the animal. If the flank strap is pulled too tight it restricts the bull's motion. The flank strap is designed for quick release and is removed immediately after the bull exits the arena.

8 BOOTS: Bull riders wear boots that have a special ridge on the heel which helps their spurs stay in place. Some riders wear a traditional pull-on boot while others prefer a lace-up boot. Some of the riders who wear pull-on boots will tie them on to prevent them from being pulled off during the ride.

9 SPURS: Spurs help the cowboy stay in position on a bull. The rowels are dull so they don't injure or cut the skin of the bull. The spurring action displays the level of complete control the cowboy possesses during the ride, which contributes to a high rider score.

INDUSTRY TERMS

ABBI American Bucking Bull Incorporated is the DNA database and registry company of the American Bucking Bull breed. Due to incredible popularity of the sport of professional bull riding and celebrity bucking bulls themselves, a registry and DNA database was created by Bob Tallman in 1994 and called the Rodeo Stock Registry (RSR). The bovine portion of RSR's registry and database was acquired by a group of shareholders in 2004, with PBR owning a majority share and was renamed American Bucking Bull, Inc. The ABBI tracts and preserves the pedigrees and genetic heritage of the world's most elite bucking bulls and provides competitive opportunities for breeders and contractors to cultivate bulls that may eventually buck on television in Built Ford Tough Series events.

ABBI WORLD CHAMPION CLASSIC BULL The ABBI World Champion Classic Bull is the 3 or 4-year-old bull that has the highest combined marking during the World Finals Classic competition. Classic bulls qualify for the world finals based on money earning over the course of the regular ABBI Classic season.

ABBI WORLD CHAMPION FUTURITY BULL The ABBI World Champion Futurity Bull is the 2-year-old bull that has the highest combined marking during a progressive style of competition spanning over two rounds of competition during the World Finals Futurity competition. Futurity bulls qualify for the world finals based on points earned over the course of the regular ABBI Futurity season.

AMERICAN BREEDERS TRUST The American Breeders Trust is an ABBI program for bulls that are also sires. The program is incentive based with a monetary reward to breeders or owners of bulls that sire money winning offspring.

ABT SIRE An ABT Sire is an ABBI registered bull that has been nominated and enrolled in the American Breeders Trust.

AGED EVENT An aged event is an ABBI competition divided up by various age groups. Common aged event divisions are the Futurity, the Derby and the Classic for 2, 3 and 4-year-old bucking bulls.

AMERICAN HERITAGE The American Heritage is a premier event hosted by ABBI. The competition includes 1-year-old or "Yearling" bulls, 2-year-old or "Futurity" bulls and 3-year-old or "Derby" bulls. The event is unique in that breeders must choose their bull entries well in advance through a nomination process beginning when they are weanlings and yearlings. The event is also unique in that it is the biggest Futurity payout of the season. The 2017 American Heritage Futurity Champion won more than $100,000 at this single event.

ARENA The arena is the area in which bulls buck and bull riding action takes place. Arena size can vary depending on individual venue, but a typical arena generally averages 85 feet by 140 feet. An arena consists of steel parameter panels, bucking chutes of right and left deliveries and out gates. Collectively, the arena weighs approximately 50,000 pounds.

ARENA DIRECTOR The arena director is responsible for keeping the competitive pace flowing by balancing production and competitive elements in the arena and behind the chutes. An arena director is especially instrumental during live televised events.

AVERAGE The term average is synonymous with "aggregate" and is used to describe a total score from an accumulation of multiple go-rounds or outs.

"AWAY FROM HIS HAND" This phrase describes a situation when a bull's direction is moving away from a rider's riding hand.

BACK PENS The back pens are the area behind the bucking chutes where bulls are kept, sorted and handled prior to and after an event.

BANANA HORNED This term is descriptive of a bull's horns that hang down and are shaped like a "banana" curving toward the head. Interestingly enough, this type of horn is loose and not attached to the bull's skull like other horn types. Because of this, a banana-horned bull's horns are less dangerous.

BELLY ROLL When a bull twists his hips and flexes his spine while kicking in the air, he has performed this maneuver which is a difficult one for the rider to master.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS The ABBI is governed by a board of directors which consists of five ABBI Shareholders and five PBR Board Members.

BODACIOUS Bodacious is not only one of the most infamous bulls in bull riding history but he is also the very first bovine entered into the ABBI DNA database in 1994 through the RSR and given registry number 10000708. Bodacious was raised by Phil Sumnter and later owned by contractor Sammy Andrews. The bull was forced into retirement in 1995 due to his "danger factor" after severely injuring many of the world's best bull riders. The bovine died of natural causes at age 12 in 2000 and is buried at the Andrews' ranch. He left behind an enormous, genetic impact on the future of the bull industry and has a host of offspring that have carried on his legacy.

BOVINE The biological subfamily of hoofed animals which includes cattle; the scientific name frequently used to reference cattle and in this case bucking bulls.

BRAND A means of permanent livestock identification generally consisting of numbers, letters or a combination of both placed on a bull's hide by either hot brand or freeze brand. A bull's brand is also one of the most common ways a rider can distinguish his draw from the other bulls in the back pens.

BRAZILIAN BULL ROPE A Brazilian bull rope is a bull riding rope used by many Brazilian bull riders (and in some cases Americans) that is pulled from the opposite side as a traditional bull riding rope. The size of the hand-hold or the riser is believed to allow for more tension when it is pulled in place on the bull which allows for a much snugger fit around a bull's girth.

BREEDER A breeder is a person whose occupation or hobby is to mate and produce an animal species and in ABBI's case, American Bucking Bulls.

BREEDER OF THE YEAR The ABBI Breeder of the Year is a prestigious award given by the ABBI to the person(s) responsible for the mating which produces each year's ABBI World Champion Classic bull.

BREEDING PROGRAM A breeding program is a breeder's genetic cultivation of specific American Bucking Bull lines all his own and its subsequent herd.

BREEDERS TRUST An ABBI program in which an owner or breeder nominates a sire. The ABT is incentive based and owners of nominated sires can win money based on a bull's offspring's competitive performance.

BUCKED OFF A rider is considered "bucked off" if he does not make the 8-seconds required of a qualified ride.

BUCKING CHUTE The bucking chute is the place a rider prepares for his ride aboard a bull. It is the location that a bull is also readied for competitive action. Bucking chutes can either be right-hand or left-hand. (also see "delivery")

BULL A bull is an "intact" male bovine (capable of reproducing) of any breed. ABBI bulls come in vast array of colors, patterns, sizes and shapes. Each is genetically unique and often displays very notable personality traits. Most American Bucking Bulls begin training under a remote controlled dummy as yearlings or 2-year-olds, advance to lower level riders as 3-year-olds and make their way into PBR venues as 4-year-olds. Most bulls are in their prime from 4-7 years of age and most retire to be used in breeder's programs as sires.

BULL OF THE FINALS This award is officially titled "The Mikel Moreno Bull of the World Finals" in honor of the late son of contractors Julio Moreno and Cindy Rosser. At the conclusion of the World Finals the bull with the highest combined markings posted during the event has this award bestowed upon them.

BULL ROPE The bull rope is the only means that a rider has to hold onto with one hand during a ride. It is wrapped around the heart girth of a bull directly behind his hump and fore limb. A metal bell is attached to the rope and hangs underneath the bull. The bell is not only traditional but serves a purpose. The added weight of the bell pulls the rope to the ground and off the bull after a rider dismounts.

BULLFIGHTER The bullfighter knows the bulls practically as well as the contractor. It is their mission to captivate a bull's attention away from the rider after dismount or buck-off. It benefits a bullfighter to know a bull's pattern, personality, abilities and temperament in order to complete this mission.

BUSHWACKER Besides Bodacious, perhaps no bovine has done more for the sport than Bushwacker. Bushwacker has been called the Mohammed Ali and the Michael Jordan of our sport—and dubbed by many as the greatest bull of all time. He won the coveted ABBI Classic World Champion title and is also a 3-time PBR World Champion Bucking Bull. He has been featured in such publications as the New York Times, Sports Illustrated, Newsweek, USA Today, ESPN The Magazine and even the Wall Street Journal.

CHANGE OF DIRECTION When a bull starts in one direction then reverses, usually in a spin, but change of direction can also refer to a momentum change in any other direction including backwards, forward or side to side. Change of direction effects degree of difficulty.

CHUTE The place a competitive out starts for both bull and rider. There are typically six chutes at one end of an arena. Half are right-hand and half are left-hand. The rider prepares himself in the chute while the contractor readies the bull. When both competitors are set the rider nods signaling he is ready for the gate of the chute to be opened, thus beginning the out.

CLASSIC An ABBI competition for 3 and 4-year old bulls under rider. ABBI Classics can be held with PBR BF<sup>T</sup>S events, PBR

Touring Pro events or other promoter produced ABBI sanctioned events.

CLASSIC BULL A registered ABBI 3 or 4-year-old bull currently engaged in ABBI competition.

COVER When a rider makes a successful 8-second ride aboard a bull he has succeeded in his attempt to “cover” the animal.

DELIVERY This term refers to the direction the bull and rider are released into the arena from the chute. Because bulls can either be right or left leaded (similar to right or left handed people) there are two different types of delivery available to a contractor for his bulls. Contractors usually choose the delivery in the direction that the bull is the strongest. Most bulls put out a right-hand delivery will end up turning back to the right and most bulls put out a left-handed delivery will turn back to the left.

DERBY An ABBI competition for 3-year-olds under lower level riders usually head in conjunction with PBR Touring Pro events.

DERBY BULL A registered ABBI 3-year-old bull currently engaged in ABBI competition.

DISMOUNT A dismount is the act of getting off a bull by the rider after 8-seconds.

DNA Deoxyribonucleic acid, or DNA, is a nucleic acid that contains the genetic instructions used in the development and functioning of all known living organisms. The DNA segments that carry this genetic information are called genes, but other DNA sequences have structural purposes, or are involved in regulating the use of this genetic information. Along with RNA and proteins, DNA is one of the three major macromolecules that are essential for all known forms of life.

EID TAG An EID tag or Electronic Identification Tag is an ear-tag placed in the ear of a bull. It is read with an electronic reader and contains detailed information about the individual bull.

EMBRYO CALF An embryo calf, also called an ET (Embryo Transfer) calf is the product of medical procedure called a “flush” in which the calf's biological mother's fertilized eggs are removed and implanted in surrogates, thus enabling a mass production of a desired genetic mating.

FADE A maneuver executed by a bull in which he drifts across the arena while simultaneously spinning.

FLANK The flank can refer to either the location directly in front of a bull's hind limb where it attaches to his body or the rope that is placed in the flank area. Flanks come in a variety of materials, weights and function. (See Flank Man)

FLANK MAN Often a contractor and the bull's main handler and care taker, the flank man is the person who properly positions the flank on a bull in the chute prior to bucking. Flanking is said to be less of a science and more of an art in that there is a "feel" and judgment component involved. Additionally there are a multitude of ways to position and tie off a flank as well as different weights, materials and types of flanks. Every bull generally has a specific manner in which he is flanked to perform to his best ability and a flank man is very important in this process.

FLUSH A procedure in which fertilized eggs are harvested from a cow to increase the number of calves she can produce.

FOULED When a rider is "fouled" it means something occurred which gave the bull an unfair advantage. Common fouls are; hiping, stumbling or a flank falling off. Such fouls result in the rider being awarded a re-ride.

FUTURITY An ABBI competition for 2-year-old bulls in which they are bucked under a remote- controlled dummy. In competition, Futurity bulls are bucked under dummy for 4 seconds. The release of the dummy rewards the animal for his bucking behavior and reinforces his natural behavior.

FUTURITY BULL A registered ABBI 2-year-old bull currently engaged in ABBI competition.

FULL SIBLING OR FULL FLUSH MATE A full sibling is an animal which has the same sire and dam as another, often the product of flushing and embryo transfer. (See flush)

GATE MAN OR LATCH MAN The Gate or Latch Man is the person responsible for tripping the latch and opening the gate when rider and contractor are ready to begin an out.

HANDLER A handler is a person that is responsible for a bull's day to day care including his competitive performance. A handler often knows a bull "like the back of his hand."

HEIFER A heifer is a female bovine that has yet to give birth.

HIPPED A term used to describe a foul to a ride when the animal unintentionally hits a portion of his hip on any part of the chute as he leaves. This often causes a change in momentum and/or direction.

HOOK The act of aggression displayed by a bull when he uses his horns as a tool in attack is called "to hook" or "hooking."

HORIZON BREEDER OF THE YEAR The ABBI Horizon Breeder of the Year is a prestigious award given by the ABBI to the person(s) responsible for the mating which produces each year's ABBI World Champion Futurity bull. The award is given in memory of the late Ronnie Roach who is considered by many to be an industry visionary when it comes to breeding and raising champion bucking bulls.

HUMP A bull's hump is the large, muscular mass that sits on top of a bull's shoulder in front of a rider or dummy.

INCENTIVE PROGRAM Incentive Programs are particularly used in business management to motivate or attract and retain customers. Scientific literature also refers to this concept as Pay for Performance. In competitive models, Incentive programs are those developed to encourage participation through monetary award for performance.

"INTO HIS HAND" This phrase describes a situation when a bull's direction is moving toward or "into" a rider's riding hand.

LEAD The term used to refer to which of a bull's front legs is leading his direction while in motion. For bulls, this is similar to being left or right handed for a human.

MATERNAL When referring to an animal's female side in regards to lineage, the term maternal is often used.

MATURITY A maturity is an open ABBI competition that is open to bulls that are 3-years and older.

MATURITY BULL A bull 3-years or older that is not eligible to compete in other ABBI aged events for a variety of eligibility reasons.

MULEY A muley is a bull that is naturally born without any horns.

PATERNAL When referring to an animal's male side in regards to lineage, the term paternal is often used.

PBR WORLD CHAMPION BUCKING BULL PBR's World Champion Bucking Bull is an award given to the best bull in the world based on variety of factors during World Finals.

PEDIGREE An American Bucking Bulls pedigree refers to its lineage or genealogical descent.

RANK A bull is referred to as rank if he is at the highest level of bucking performance. A rank bull is very difficult to ride or "cover."

SCUR-HORNED A scurred-horned animal is one that has minimal horns naturally, but has them nonetheless.

SHORT ROUND A short round is a final competition in which a limited number of contestant advance based on a previous score.

SIRE A sire is the biological father of a specific offspring.

SPINNER A spinner is a bull whose best feature is executing revolutions or the act of turning back.

SPURS Bull riders wear spurs which are required to have dull, loosely locked rowels. Wearing spurs does not hurt a bull which has a hide seven times thicker than a human's skin. Spurs are used by riders to give them a grip with their feet to improve balance.

STOCK CONTRACTOR OF THE YEAR The PBR Stock Contractor of the Year award is the most sought after award for the bull contractor. A variety of things play a role in the choosing of this awards recipient including rider opinion, number of high caliber bulls, events traveled to, scores posted by bull's on a contractor's team and his overall "stock" contribution to the season.

TIPPED Bulls are required to be tipped for both rider and personnel safety. Tipping requires the trimming or filing of the sharp ends of the horns which is similar to filing or trimming a human's nails.

TOURING PRO DIVISION The PBR Touring Pro Division (TPD) is a lower-level rider competition.

TURN BACK A bull "turns back" when he begins to make a revolution or spins. This maneuver is important to a bull's score.

VET RELEASE Designed to protect competitive bucking bulls and their welfare, a vet release is a medical excuse from a licensed veterinarian excusing a bull from competition or performance.

JUDGING

The ABBI is determined to provide an ample amount of opportunities to cultivate the best bred bucking bulls in the world and help them maximize their potential, on their way to competing at the PBR's elite level. Through a variety of aged events, ABBI is able to showcase and highlight these four-legged athletes while also supporting Stock Contractors. By 2016 ABBI awarded over $3 million dollars in prize money to breeders and owners of American Bucking Bulls.

When it comes to judging the American Bucking Bull during a competition uses a 5-judge system. Each judge marks the animal from 1-25 points based on elements of Buck, Kick, Spin, Intensity and Degree of Difficulty. The 5 judge's scores are totaled with a perfect marking between 100 points – this has not happened to date at either ABBI or PBR competition.

BUCK: “Buck” refers to the height and elevation achieved with the front feet and shoulders as a bull leaves the ground in his front end. This elevation happens prior to “break over” and kick. Bulls that “get in the air” and get their front feet higher off the ground as they peak and break over get the most credit in the buck category. The number of jumps they complete during the course of the trip and how much ground they cover is also a factor.

KICK: “Kick” refers to the extension and snap of the hind legs at the peak of each jump. Determining factors as to the number of points earned in this category are how high and how hard a bull kicks, how much vertical body angle he achieves as he kicks, and whether or not he kicks each and every jump. Additionally, bulls that kick at the peak of each jump instead of waiting until their front feet reach the ground receive more credit.

SPIN: “Spin” refers to a bull turning back and the number of revolutions he makes. In this respect it coincides with speed. Spin is the most difficult to assess if a bull is only ridden for a jump or two. In this situation, a judge must assume that the amount a bull was spinning (or the number of rounds) would have continued at the same rate for eight seconds. For this reason, in order to achieve attention for spin a bull should do it early in the out. Determining factors when assessing spin are: how fast (how many rounds if ridden eight seconds or rounds during the 4 seconds that dummy is in place), how far around a bull goes with each jump (bulls who take two jumps to complete a revolution get more credit than those who take four jumps). It should be noted that often speed and spin can compromise buck and kick and vice versa, but the optimum goal is to have an individual that does everything effectively.

INTENSITY: “Intensity” is nothing more than the amount of effort, or level of intensity that a bull is using as he bucks. In other words, how much try is he putting into the trip. As in the degree of difficulty category, if a bull demonstrates the other core elements, it would be hard not to assume that he is using a high degree of intensity as he bucks. To demonstrate intensity, a bull must execute moves with enthusiasm and vigor to be considered intense in his efforts. The element of intensity can often allow separation among bulls that do everything right.

DEGREE OF DIFFICULTY: There are a number of factors that can occur in a bulls trip that elevate “Degree of Difficulty”, and it is important to note that the bull that does everything else right automatically has a high degree of difficulty for that simple reason. That being said just because a bull is honest and doesn't use tricks to get a rider off, he shouldn't be penalized in this category for doing things right. Keeping this in mind, there are elements of a trip that some bulls employ that make them harder to ride than bulls that don't. These things don't necessarily make a bull better, and again it should be mentioned that the most desirable methods of increasing degree of difficulty are by doing the core elements (buck, kick, spin) well. Further, the bull that is using time and energy performing some of the trickier elements generally associated with “Degree of Difficulty”, is usually losing ground in some other area. The most generally defined elements of this category are: drift or fade, accomplished by a bull covering ground as he spins; moving forward or lateral in the spin; belly roll—a twisting of the bulls spin rolling a rider from side to side; head to hip spinal flexion, drop, direction change; and a lack of timing.

BUCKING BULL BASICS

Q: What does the average American Bucking Bull weigh?

A mature bucking bull weighs in at approximately 1,500- 1,800 pounds. A rider-ready bull very rarely weighs less than 1,200 pounds. The weight of a 2-year-old Futurity bull bucking under a dummy generally ranges from 700-1,200 pounds.

Q: What is the lifespan of an American Bucking Bull?

The American Bucking Bull often lives well into their teens, which is considered geriatric for any bull. Though an American Bucking Bull is often considered to be in his prime from 4-6 years of age, many buck past the age of 10. A large portion of American Bucking Bulls start a second career as sires once they retire from bucking and often live late into their teens.

Q: What makes an American Bucking Bull buck?

The successes of bucking bull breeding programs around the world have proven that genetics are the most prevalent factor in determining a bull's desire and ability to buck. It is common to see baby American Bucking Bulls running, playing, jumping and kicking out in the pasture when they are still on their mothers. In fact it is no stretch to say that bucking is natural and bred into the American Bucking Bull. A bull can't be "made" to buck. It's something they have been bred to naturally love doing. Careful selection in breeding has encouraged this natural behavior. Along with this selection the American Bucking Bull breed as a whole has been improved as breeders select for athleticism, bucking desire and the temperament required of a bucking bovine. Breeders have diligently bred out genetics that have no desire to buck, are more prone to disease, physical injury and other undesirable characteristics that do no compliment their objectives and goals of raising American Bucking Bulls that thrive in a competitive environment.

Q: What does a flank strap actually do to an American Bucking Bull?

The flank strap is used to encourage and enhance the correct and desired movement of a bull during an out. A flank's placement and tension can do many things including possibly improving timing, facilitating proper lead function and even act as a point of balance when a bull's hip is locked during extension of a kick. One of the most common misconceptions about bull riding is that the flank strap is tied to the animal's testicles. Study of an American Bucking Bull's anatomy will reveal that not only are a bull's reproductive organs located in a place that the soft flank can't be placed, but it would be virtually impossible to get bucking behavior out of a bovine whose reproductive organs were being interfered with. In all actuality, the flank strap's location could be compared to a human wearing a belt.

Q: What does the typical American Bucking Bull in competitive training eat?

As with humans body mass, nutritional requirements and speed of metabolism can vary with each individual athlete. Some bulls have higher energy expenditures than others. Typically a full grown American Bucking Bull can eat anywhere from 12-20 pounds of a complete texturized, high protein ration (grain) and free choice roughage or fiber (hay). Protein is paramount in muscle form, function and maintenance. It is also common for a breeder or contractor to provide supplemental vitamins, minerals, amino acids, electrolytes and even joint health supplements to their bovine investments. When it comes to nutritional care American Bucking Bull breeders and contractors are very deliberate with their choices for optimum health and performance.

Q: How do breeders and contractors exercise and keep competitive bulls fit?

Most American Bucking Bulls in competitive training receive some sort of training to maintain fitness. Methods can vary but common forms of exercise include aerobic forms of exercise. Some contractors use "bull walkers" which are a training device for exercise while others take a hand on approach and do it by foot or from horseback—moving and jogging bulls around pastures. One of the industry's most innovative concepts for fitness and conditioning is swimming. Our industry boasts its first revolutionary facility in Canton, Texas named the Bull Pool where elite bulls are conditioned in a state of the art indoor, climatized bull sized swimming pool and facility. This facility in itself demonstrates the lengths bull breeders and contractors will go to in order to maintain health, fitness and in some cases rehabbing injuries of their bovine companions. Bulls off the road also get plenty of exercise out in large pastures by traveling to and from feed and water sources, digging and slinging dirt, breeding females and sometimes when pastured together by “sparing” with one another in their home environments. Possibly the best form of exercise American Bucking Bulls can get is during the act of actually bucking since a large range of muscles are utilized during performance.

Q: What about injuries during bucking competition?

Although rare, injury is something that does happen in any athletic pursuit even among human athletes. Common minor injuries include pulled muscles, joint sprains and minor cuts and contusions. More severe injuries include broken bones and back injuries. Most of these injuries are caused by bulls that are so athletic their desire to buck supersedes their physical abilities. Interestingly enough bovine veterinary care has come a long way and it is not uncommon for bulls to recover from broken limbs or back injuries eventually becoming well enough to buck again. Still under these circumstances, most owners will opt for retirement of these cherished individuals and place them into breeding programs. Regardless, no stone is left unturned when it comes to the overall health and safety of these bovine gladiators. Owners and handlers watch over and care for them like prized possessions and family members.

Q: How common are injuries to the American Bucking Bull in competition?

There are approximately 60 bulls at a one-day PBR event, 90 at a two-day event and 110 at a three-day event. Some ABBI competitive events see up to 200 bulls at a single event. PBR and ABBI bulls that are 3 and 4-year-old bulls buck once per event for 8 seconds and on some occasions twice. ABBI Futurity bulls buck for 4 seconds once per event under a light weight, remote released dummy. It has been documented that one bull will suffer a minor injury (muscle pull or strain) per approximately 800 outs. A bull will suffer a life-ending injury once every 9,833 outs. Additionally it is more common for a bull to be killed during a fight with another bull while out to pasture than during an ABBI or PBR competitive out.

Q: What types of injury care and prevention does the competitive American Bucking Bull receive?

Most breeders and contractors have a regular vet that specializes in bucking bull health and injury care—and many of these bulls receive frequent preventative attention to insure their health and wellness and a regular basis all through the year. In addition, it's not uncommon to see owners using alternative therapies like chiropractic care, acupuncture and even cutting edge human therapies on their bovine athletes.

Q: How are bulls on the road rested?

It is paramount to an American Bucking Bull owner that their competitive bovine is well rested and un-stressed when he arrives at a contest. Most ABBI owners rest bulls after about 5-6 hours on the road. During long hauls most owners utilize the vast network of other breeder's facilities across the country for lay-ups. Bulls are required to check in 24 hours prior to competition which allows them plenty of time to rest, acclimate, feed and hydrate themselves before an out.

Q: Do a bull rider's spurs cut or hurt an American Bucking Bull?

A bull rider's spurs are designed to give him more grip and balance with his feet during the ride. The rowel's (the wheel type part of the spur) must be dull and loosely locked and are subject to inspection at all times. It should also be noted that a bovine's hide is up to seven times the thickness of a human's making it much more durable and strong than realized.

Q: What is an American Bucking Bulls worth?

The American Bucking Bull's value depends on several factors including: age, pedigree, stats, potential and a bull's ability to generate future income through competition and/or breeding. At the end of the day a bull's value is "whatever the market will bear." That being said a top caliber American Bucking Bull can fetch $250,000 or even more in many cases. PBR Stock Contractors and ABBI Bull Breeders and Owners treat their animals as living, breathing assets. They have an enormous investment in these fine bovines both monetary and emotional. Much time and labor goes into getting a bull to this level of competition and breeders, owners and contractors spare no expense when it comes to protecting their bovine investments.

PBR STOCK CONTRACTOR OF THE YEAR

The Professional Bull Riders, Inc. uses over 70 different stock contractors across the United States. On average, a stock contractor owns 20 to 200 bulls. The PBR has set high standards for each stock contractor and their bucking bulls. At the culmination of the season, the top PBR riders in the world choose a PBR Stock Contractor of the Year based on votes.

ABBI AMERICAN HERITAGE FUTURITY

There is no bigger event for 2-year-old bulls than ABBI's American Heritage Futurity. The American Heritage is the must-enter event for ABBI stock contractors each season. But there's a catch—bulls must be entered the year they are born, with sustaining payments made until they compete. Contractors are essentially betting on the bloodlines of their animals—but with the winning bull typically taking home a check for about $100,000, it's a bet that can pay off big time.

Starting in 2015, two more events were added so breeders on the East and West Coasts wouldn't have to travel to Oklahoma (the event's traditional home state) in order to compete. Which now results in three winners, one in each regional division, and over half a million paid out in prize money total.
