

Katrina Jackson, AOCNP, is an advanced oncology certified nurse practitioner currently practicing in St. Paul, MN. She obtained her Bachelor's of Science in Nursing degree in Madison, Wisconsin in 2004 and worked as a registered nurse for 6 years prior to graduating with her Masters of Science in Nursing degree from University of Cincinnati, OH in 2010. She initially started as a nurse practitioner in general hematology/oncology and later worked in bone marrow transplant in Detroit, MI. For the past 6 years, she has been working in St. Paul, MN in medical oncology/hematology.